 DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This complex consists of a brick veneered house possibly of log construction, one and a half stories high and four bay wide with a two story, four bay stone extension to the rear. Also present is a ruined log cabin with a stone addition. Both of these secondary buildings are constructed over a spring. A large frame bank barn is included in the group as well. Part of one gable of the main house is sheathed with vertical board siding. A deep overhanging porch which extends along the front elevation is included under the main roof span. A German sided overhang is attached to the second story of the stone section.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This complex has several unusual features and is worthy of further study. There are unexplained parts of the brick cased house as well as of the log cabin spring house. The group reflects vernacular building traditions in the area.
